IMPORTANT THINGS TO NOTE

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are illiterate has increased from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion.

There are many reasons for this. One is that the population of the world is growing so fast that the number of people who are illiterate is increasing even though the percentage of illiterate people is decreasing.

Another reason is that the quality of education is poor in many countries. This means that many people who go to school do not learn enough to be able to read and write.

There are also many people who do not go to school at all. This is because they are too poor to afford to go, or because they have to work to help support their families.

It is important to find ways to help these people learn to read and write. This will help them to improve their lives and to participate more fully in society.

One way to do this is to provide more schools and teachers. Another way is to provide more books and reading materials.

It is also important to provide more training for teachers so that they can teach more effectively.

Finally, it is important to provide more support for people who are too poor to go to school. This can be done by providing them with food, clothing, and other basic needs.

By doing these things, we can help to reduce the number of illiterate people in the world and to improve the lives of all people.

There are many other ways to help people learn to read and write. We need to find more ways to do this and to make sure that everyone has access to education.

It is our responsibility to help these people and to make sure that they have the opportunity to learn and to improve their lives.

Let us work together to help these people and to make a better world for everyone.
